THINGS WORTH KNOWING.

To CLEAN and restore the polish to leather, wash the leather with a soft cloth, dampened with a little warm water; dry it carefully, and then brush it over with the whites of eggs whipped to a froth.

CLEAN carved ivory with a paste of dampened sawdust and a few drops of lemon juice. Lay it on thickly, allow it to dry, and then remove with a nail brush.

ADD a tablespoonful of borax to a pan of hot soapsuds; put your table silver in it, and let stand two hours. Rinse it with clear water and polish with a soft cloth or chamois.

AN excellent way to clean old brass is to use ordinary household ammonia, undiluted, and rub with a brush. This will leave the metal clear and bright. It should then be rinsed in clear water and wiped dry.

SHIRT bosoms never blister if starched on the right side, but if they are wrong side out when starched they are apt to do so. Pour mixed starch into boiling water instead of pouring boiling water on the starch, in that way never using more starch than is necessary, as the simple starch and water can be saved.

TAKE as much exercise as you can, and be in the open air as much as possible. Outdoor life is the natural condition of mankind, and the more one can have of it the better. The practice must not be carried to extremes, however. There are many days when one is much better off in a warm, comfortable, well-ventilated house than trying to take outdoor exercise in a midwinter storm or under a July sun.

IN CASE OF ACCIDENT.

Ten Short Rules Prepared by a Cornell University Professor.

Prof. Wilder of Cornell university gives the following short rules for action in case of accident, which it will be found useful to preserve and remember:

For dust in the eyes, avoid rubbing; dash water in them; remove cinders, etc., with the round point of a lead pencil.

Remove matter from the ear with tepid water; never put a hard instrument into the ear.

If an artery is cut, compress above the wound; if a vein is cut compress below.

If choked, get upon all fours and cough.

For slight burns dip the part in cold water; if the skin is destroyed cover with vasoline.

Smother fire with carpets, etc., water will often spread burning oil and increase danger. Before passing through smoke take a full breath, and then stoop low; but if carbonic acid gas is suspected walk erect.

Suck poisoned wounds, unless your mouth is sore; enlarge the wound, or, better, cut out the part without delay; hold the wounded part as long as can be borne to a hot coal or end of a cigar.

In case of poisoning excite vomiting by tickling the throat or by warm water and mustard.

If in water, float on the back, with the nose and mouth projecting.

For apoplexy raise the head and body; for fainting lay the person flat.

UNIQUE PIN CUSHION.

Some Exquisite Effects to Be Produced with This Pattern.

This engraving illustrates a unique style of pin cushion. It is made of five sections of silk curved to points toward the top and joined to form a cup shape. The bottom is a circular piece that is joined to the lower edges of the sections. The cushion is stuffed like all cushions and edged at the bottom with a cord. The top is drawn down upon upholstery fashion, and rising from it is a gilded stick, to which threads of silk are tied and allowed to fall over with the effect of a large, fluffy pompon. Stripes of ribbon in two widths stripe

PIN CUSHION.

the cushion prettily and the sections are beautifully-embroidered in floral designs, a different design being selected for each. The result achieved will be very handsome if the work is carefully done. Of course, the sections should be decorated before they are joined, and they should be very evenly cut. Given good taste in the choice of colors for combination, some exquisite effects may be produced. Painting in oils or water colors may be done instead of embroidery, or sections of rich brocades showing floral patterns in colors may be used effectively.—Old Homestead.

To Make a Mustard Plaster.

For young children: Mix one teaspoonful of mustard and three of wheat flour with water to the consistency of a stiff batter, and apply between soft muslin cloths. For adults: One part of mustard and two of flour.

Testing the Purity of Water.

A simple test for the detection of lead in drinking water is furnished by tincture of cochineal, a few drops of which will color the water blue if there is the remotest trace of lead present.

Uses of Kerosene.

Kerosene will make a tin kettle as bright as new. Wet a flannel cloth and rub with it. Kerosene will also remove stains and dirt from varnished furniture.

All Aches Relieved.

Headache, toothache, backache, or most any joint ache, will be relieved by heating the feet thoroughly with the shoes on.
